

International Women's Day
QUESTION TIME
Tuesday 9th March 2010
12 noon—2pm
Rotherham Minster

Join us to mark International Women's Day at Rotherham's very own version of the BBC's Question Time and put your questions to the panel.

In the Chair will be Denis MacShane MP for Rotherham. He will be joined by:

Polly Toynbee - Guardian columnist and President of the Social Policy Association. She was formerly BBC social affairs editor, columnist and associate editor of the Independent, co-editor of the Washington Monthly and a reporter and feature writer for the Observer.

Baroness Margaret Prosser, OBE - Deputy Chair of the Equality and Human Rights Commission. Margaret chaired the Women's National Commission and the Women and Work Commission into the reasons for the continuing gender pay and opportunities gap.

Joan Smith - novelist, journalist and human rights activist. Regular columnist in the Guardian Weekend, The Independent, the Independent on Sunday, and New Statesman.

Stephanie Flanders (tbc) - award-winning British broadcast journalist, and currently the BBC economics editor. She is the daughter of British actor and comic singer Michael Flanders and Claudia Cockburn.

Bring your lunch and have a coffee and a chat before the formal part of the event 12.30—1.30. Cards on which you may submit your question will be available from 11.45am.

A collection will be taken for the women and children of Haiti

ADMISSION IS FREE but 'Ticket Only'
